

lagranja

Established in 2002, lagranja is a multidisciplinary design studio focusing its talent in the creation of interiors, products and ephemeral installations. After a decade, the team at lagranja remains passionate and coherent about their core ideology: making design an aide to companies and brandnames.

Lagranja's attitude and creative edge, has led to collaborations with some of the most prestigious names in the industry, including designs for products and development of international projects and exhibits for cultural institutions*.

In 2010, lagranja consolidated its growth by expanding its activity to a new office in Hong Kong. Soon after, by early 2011 a move to a new space in a modernist biscuit factory in Barcelona followed.

Lagranja's work has gained international recognition and national acclaim winning prestigious prizes like the Red Dot Award (2007), Premi Ciutat de Barcelona de Disseny (2008), Premio Via (2009), IIDA Excellence Award from the International Interior Design Association-USA (2009), IDEA Award (2008) and Silver Delta Award (2012).

In addition to their professional activity and as active participants of the design community, the team at lagranja participates as jury in competitions, and give lectures in Spain and abroad (Usa, Italy, Japan, Brazil, Mexico, Russian Federation...).

In the past years Gerard and Gabriele they've been teaching at distinguished design schools such as: Istituto Universitario di Architettura di Venezia, FABRICA (Benetton's creative research centre), ELISAVA, EINA, and IED in Barcelona.
